Instructions:

Governments serve several different purposes, one of which is to provide public services to the community. Using such sources as the “Government” section of your local phone book, other government directories available to you through the school or community library, or your own experience, list as many services as you can that are provided by the federal, state, and local levels of government in your community. Indicate which level of government provides each service by placing an F for federal, an S for state, and an L for local before each entry.
